What Is Going On Tonight.
Knights of Pythias, Natchaug lodge, No. 22, Meets at 808 Main street.

A special meeting of the board of aldermen was held Saturday night in the council chamber in the town building. Mayor Charles A. Gates, presiding. The meeting was held for the purpose of discussing a number of matters which had been left unfinished at the November meeting. The first item on the agenda was the report of the committee on the petition for the annexation of the town of Willimantic to the city of Norwich. The committee reported that they had held several public hearings and had received many suggestions. They recommended that the annexation be postponed until the next year, when a more complete study could be made.

City Clerk Albert C. Scripture presented several bills which were voted upon. The resignation of Edward Bonbriga, department electrician of Engine Company No. 1, was accepted and the name of Albert J. Young was submitted for the office. Mr. Young was elected a permanent member of Engine Company No. 1. A call man for Engine Company No. 1 was also selected at the meeting. Adjournment was taken soon after the meeting was called to order, winding up the business of the present board for the year.

In the case of Dr. James F. McKenna, of Providence, versus John W. Walpole, Allan A. Ayer, and George L. Ward, Putnam, a civil suit for damages of $50,000, Judge William M. Maibelle has handed down a decision in favor of the defendants. The case has attracted considerable attention throughout Eastern Connecticut, resulting from the arrest of McKenna following an automobile accident near Putnam on the night of March 18, 1921. The car owned and driven by Dr. McKenna and one owned and driven by John Walpole collided, McKenna's car being badly damaged and it was taken to a Putnam garage for repairs. While in Putnam, McKenna was arrested and locked up at the Putnam police station on a charge of intoxication but was released several hours later and in court next morning was found guilty of the charge. He was fined $500.

Two cases occupied the attention of the police court Saturday morning. Dominick Menditto charged with having in his possession liquor with intent to sell and with actual sale, again had his case continued, owing to the absence of witnesses. Frank Woodworth, who said he worked for Frank A. Phillips, a lumber dealer, told of purchasing moonshine and selling it to Menditto in November. The moonshine cost 50 cents a drink and the other 10 cents a drink. The liquor was brought out from a room in the rear of the store. He had also purchased home brew of Menditto. On cross-examination, Woodworth was somewhat hazy about just when the purchase was made, but said it was sometime in November.

THE H. C. MURRAY CO.

He finally fixed the time as two weeks ago Monday. The attorney for the defense tried to bring out that Woodworth and Menditto had had trouble, but the witness denied this.

Henry Woodworth, brother of the first witness, was not present in court when his name was called and the officer sent out to find him was unable to do so. Prosecuting Attorney Samuel B. Harvey asked for a continuance of the case until this (Monday) morning.

William Wheeler of No. 9 Arnold's Lane, pleaded not guilty to the charge of having in his possession intoxicating liquors with intent to sell and with actual sale of liquors. Ernest Morse testified that he paid Wheeler 15 cents for a bottle of home brew and had drink of moonshine that Wheeler served from a small bottle he took from home brew. He also told of buying other home brew there. He admitted he was in a mixup in the hallway of the Wheeler home two weeks ago.

Alfred H. Rogers of Pleasant street testified to being with Wheeler the night the federal officers made the raid. He had a bottle of home brew Wheeler had given him, but he never paid for it. The liquor found in the house on the night of the raid.

Wheeler in his own defense denied selling liquor to Morse, or to giving him any. He said that he made home brew for his own use and to give his friends when they called and felt that he was being imposed upon. Asked why he had such a large stock on hand, he said that it was better when aged. Mrs. Wheeler also testified that her husband had sold no liquor.

Three civil suits, two for damages due to collisions between vehicles, and one for furnishing of decorative supplies were tried Saturday forenoon before Justice of the Peace Curtis Dean. Asher B. Holmes sought to recover $34.10 from Dewitt C. Lockman, of No. 50 West 29th street, New York city. The bill was contracted on October 20 and November 2, 1920, and according to Holmes were for painter's supplies at the defendant's summer home at Windham Center. The defendant claimed that neither he nor his agent contracted for the supplies. The plaintiff claims they were ordered over the telephone. Justice Dean reserved decision.

The case of Jone Auto Company vs. Sebastiano Aldrino and Sebastiano Aldrino vs. Merrill H. Jones were heard jointly, being counter-suits. The testimony showed that on the night of October 19, 1921, a Buick auto owned by the Jone Auto Company, was being driven by Aldrino on Valley street. Merrill H. Jones for the Jone Auto Company brought suit to recover $60 damages. The accident he alleged was caused by the defendant's car cutting in on the center of the road without proper lights.

In the counter suit Aldrino denied this testimony, said the saw outfit was on the right of the road and properly lighted and that careless driving on the part of Jones caused the accident. Aldrino placed his damages at $100. Many witnesses were called for both sides. Decision was reserved by Justice Dean.

Poor weather affected the attendance record at the ninety-fourth convention of the Willimantic Christian Endeavor society, held Saturday at the local Baptist church. Afternoon and evening sessions were held. The address of welcome was made by Mrs. Ida Vauhan of Willimantic, president of the Willimantic Union. The South Willimantic Christian Endeavor Society was welcomed into the ranks of the Willimantic Union, after which some services were enjoyed and topics of the day were taken up.

This (Monday) evening at Natchaug school, the evening class in home cooking is to begin, and will continue for twenty evenings. Most of those enrolled have completed the course in home nursing, but it is believed that room can be provided for others desirous of taking up the study of cooking. The domestic science room at the high school has been turned over for use by the teacher. The attendance at the night school sessions is less than at any school sessions and there is an opportunity for more individual work. People desiring to take up this course are to notify Principal William O. Brooks today (Monday). Instructions in the course are given free.

Sunday afternoon over 150 boys gathered at the Y. M. C. A. and enjoyed a sing before the discussion of the topic, "Are You For Sale?" was taken up. Following the talk six reels of motion pictures were shown to the delight of the clamor for more. The Sunday afternoon meetings, which have proved a success for two years, will be continued throughout the winter and speakers will be secured to talk on subjects of interest to boys.

Textile plants in the city are again feeling the pinch of slackening business; beginning today (Monday) the Quindick-Norwich Manufacturing company joins short time employment with the Roselle Velvet company which has been operating on a twelve-hour week for some time. The Quindick-Norwich company will go on a four day a week schedule starting today. Work days will be of seven hours from 7 a. m. until 4 p. m., the days of operation being the first four days of each week.

Brief Notes.

Saturday morning at 8.30 o'clock requiem masses were celebrated at St. Michael's church for George M. McGowan, 31, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McGowan of Mechanic street, who died at Lawrence Memorial hospital, West on Saturday afternoon. Mr. McGowan was born in Pawcatuck in 1900 and received his early education from the schools here. In August, 1921, he received injuries in an automobile accident on the shore road and his leg was injured. The operation was successful and the young man appeared to be recovering when pneumonia set in a few days ago.

STONINGTON

Contractor Perry of the borough and men have begun work on the repairs on the two cannon located at Cannon square. They are relics of the war of 1775, and took a part in the famous defense of Stonington. Mr. Perry is constructing concrete piers to hold the weight of the guns. Each wheel is to be set on small blocks of concrete to keep the wheels from settling into the ground.

Although as told in The Bulletin Friday, C. N. Wayland, for many years a summer resident and benefactor of the borough, is in Bellevue hospital under observation, rebuilding of the streets and was of the borough depends upon what the officials of Bellevue decide. Burgess William P. Bindless has received a check of $10,000 from Mr. Wayland, the first installment for the promised work on the cement road construction.

R. M. Delagrangue is having the second floor of his garage finished for a tenement and expects to occupy it soon.

The heavy rain has been a great help in increasing the supply of water in the Valley Water company. There does not seem to be any further fear of a water famine.

The meeting of the Girls' Sewing class was held in the Community house Saturday afternoon. The girls attended in large numbers and each girl was given work to do. The instructors were Mrs. Henry R. Palmer, Mrs. James H. Stivers, Miss Jennie Trumbull and Miss Laura Wood. The work is expected to be a great success and adds another interest to the Community house.

NEW HAMPSHIRE IN LEAD

BUYING GOVERNMENT SECURITIES
Sales reports of government savings securities for the month of October have been received by E. C. Ayres, director, savings division, first federal reserve district.

Increased sales in many cities and towns of the district showed the gradual return of normal business conditions. Comprehensive among these are the records made by the postmasters of New Haven, Conn., Fitchburg, Haverhill, Pittsfield, and Salem, Mass., Rutland, Vt., and Dover, Keene, and Exeter, N. H. Many of these postmasters make the year's highest record for their city in October.

The total sales for the ten months to November 1st amount to over $1,100,000 from this district alone, and for the whole country about $15,000,000 of new money, which gives valuable assistance to our government in financing the many obligations maturing as an aftermath of the world war.

Although much publicity has been given recently to the fact that figures prove Massachusetts to be the thriftiest state in the Union, the sales of government savings securities show New Hampshire to be in the lead not only in the per capita average for the period to October 1st, but in her monthly per capita increase over September.

The following table shows the sales of the six states in October and the aggregate sales and per capita average for the ten months to October 1st.

	Oct.	Aggr.	Per Cap.
N. H.	$114,057.45	$1,174,526.44	.39
R. I.	10,556.75	153,173.55	.25
Conn.	12,815.32	148,515.66	.14
Mass.	35,758.58	310,367.47	.13
Vt.	2,940.06	46,440.07	.13
Maine	6,324.89	76,762.42	.10

Total $187,066.16 $1,106,599.43 .16
The end of the year is nearly here. It is well to suggest to the holders of Incomplete Thrift cards to buy enough Thrift Stamps to fill their cards before the end of the year, so that these cards may be exchanged for Savings Bonds and the savings of the past year be put upon an interest bearing basis. No one ever regretted having a fund to draw upon in case of emergency.
